DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-7 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 27 of copending Application No. 10/779528. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant application and application'528 are directed to a self-wound multilayer laminate comprising a dry paint layer, a pressure sensitive adhesive layer, a release liner with matte release coat on one surface and an adhesive release coat on the opposite surface. However, application'528 teaches the additional feature of a barrier layer.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

3. Claims 1-7 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-49 of copending Application No. 10/779534. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant application and the application'534 are directed to a self-wound multilayer laminate comprising a dry paint layer, a pressure sensitive adhesive layer, a release liner with matte release coat on one surface and an adhesive release coat on the opposite surface.

Application'534 also teaches additional features of the laminate.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

4. Claims 1-7 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 6 of copending Application No. 10/779480. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant application and application'480 are directed to a self-wound multi layer laminate comprising a dry paint layer, a pressure sensitive adhesive layer, a release liner having a matte release coat on one surface and an adhesive release coat on the opposite surface. Application'480 also recites additional features.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. The prior art uncovered so far fails to teach the self-wound multilayer laminate comprising a dry paint layer, a pressure sensitive adhesive layer overlying one surface of the paint layer, a release liner overlying the opposite surface of the paint layer, the release liner having a matte release coat on the surface adhered to the paint and an adhesive release coat on the opposite surface as recited in claim 1, that the adhesive comprises acrylic resinous material (claim 3).
